My Victorian landmark visit

★ BONUS

We visited _____

It is in _____ We went on _____

It was built or opened in _____ Queen Victoria was ____ years old then

Victoria was born in 1819 and was queen from 1837 to 1901. Anything built between those years is Victorian.

MY SKETCH OF IT

Three things I discovered

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

The best bit was…

Photos from my visit

★ BONUS

Stick in up to four photos and write what each one shows. Look for a date carved in the stone, old bricks, iron railings, a clock, a bell or the name of the builder.

photo

photo

photo

photo

Name _____ Date _____

Victorian places near Wrenbury

★ BONUS

Built or opened while Victoria was queen (1837 to 1901). Drive times are rough. Check opening days and prices on each website before you go.

In Wrenbury and close by (under 30 minutes)

- [ ] Wrenbury railway station, Wrenbury · opened September 1858
  A real Victorian station on the Crewe to Shrewsbury line, and trains still stop there if you put your hand out. Watch from the road. · tfw.wales
- [ ] Wrenbury School, the old building, Wrenbury · dated 1879
  Our own school! The old red-brick building has a date stone, a little bell tower and a weathervane.
- [ ] Wrenbury Mill Bridge, Wrenbury · mid to late 1800s
  A red sandstone road bridge by the old mill. Look for a date carved in the stone.
- [ ] Queen's Park, Crewe · 1887 to 1888
  A big park with a lake, given to the town by the railway company for the Golden Jubilee. A clock tower from 1888, two lodges and a playground. · cheshireeast.gov.uk
- [ ] Crewe Heritage Centre, Crewe · railway works from 1843
  Real engines and signal boxes on the site of the works that built the town. The centre itself opened in 1987; the Victorian part is the works around it. · crewehc.co.uk

30 to 60 minutes

- [ ] Anderton Boat Lift, Northwich · opened 26 July 1875
  A giant iron lift that carries boats 50 feet between the river and the canal. The lift is being repaired until 2027, but the visitor centre, play area and counterweight maze are open in season. · canalrivertrust.org.uk
- [ ] Lion Salt Works, Marston, Northwich · 1894
  A real Victorian salt works you can walk round. Salt was made here until 1986. · lionsaltworks.westcheshiremuseums.co.uk
- [ ] Eastgate Clock, Chester · opened 27 May 1899
  A clock on the city walls built for the Diamond Jubilee. Its works were made by a clockmaker in Whitchurch, just down the road.
- [ ] Peckforton Castle, near Tarporley · built 1844 to 1850
  A pretend medieval castle built for a Victorian lord. It is a hotel now, so look from outside or book a meal. · peckfortoncastle.co.uk
- [ ] Shrewsbury railway station, Shrewsbury · opened October 1848
  A grand Victorian station at the other end of Wrenbury's own line. Catch the train there from Wrenbury! · tfw.wales

60 to 90 minutes

- [ ] Llangollen Railway, Llangollen · line opened 1862
  Steam trains along the River Dee on a Victorian line. Trains run daily in summer and at weekends in winter. · llangollen-railway.co.uk
- [ ] Blists Hill Victorian Town, Ironbridge · a recreated 1890s town
  A whole Victorian town to walk round, with shops, a school and people in costume. Change your money into old pennies at the bank. · artfund.org
- [ ] Royal Albert Dock, Liverpool · opened 1846
  Huge brick warehouses by the river, opened by Prince Albert himself. The Maritime Museum is inside one of them. · liverpoolmuseums.org.uk
- [ ] Port Sunlight, Wirral · started 1888
  A village built for the workers at a soap factory, with pretty houses, a museum and a worker's cottage to look round. · portsunlightvillage.com

Name _____ Date _____