My model school: the plan

15 POINTS

My model school is: ☐ Victorian ☐ modern ☐ my dream school

WHAT IT WILL LOOK LIKE FROM THE FRONT

FROM ABOVE: WHERE ARE THE ROOMS, THE PLAYGROUND, THE DOOR?

Things I could build it with

- ☐ shoebox or cereal box for the main building
- ☐ kitchen roll tube for a bell tower or chimney
- ☐ corrugated card for a slate roof
- ☐ lolly sticks for doors, fences and railings
- ☐ bottle tops for a clock or a bell
- ☐ clear plastic from packaging for windows
- ☐ straws or matchsticks for window bars
- ☐ egg box bumps for bushes and trees
- ☐ LEGO, Duplo or wooden blocks
- ☐ paint, felt pens, masking tape, glue
- ☐ tin foil for a swimming pool or pond
- ☐ green paper or felt for grass and a playing field

What makes it Victorian, or modern?

15 POINTS

Tick the features you build into your model. A good model shows at least five.

A Victorian school has…

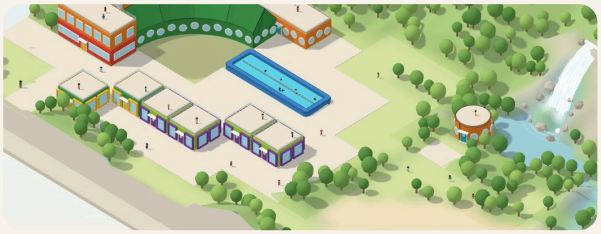

Wrenbury School, 1879 · Mike Harris, CC BY-SA 2.0, via Wikimedia Commons

- [ ] red bricks and a steep slate roof
- [ ] tall, high windows (so children could not look out)
- [ ] a bell or a little bell tower
- [ ] separate doors marked BOYS, GIRLS and INFANTS
- [ ] separate playgrounds with a wall between
- [ ] chimneys for the coal stoves
- [ ] one big schoolroom with rows of desks
- [ ] the teacher's house joined on
- [ ] a toilet block outside in the yard
- [ ] iron railings and a gate

My own ideas

A modern school could have…

A dream school in Astra Architect · made in Astra Architect

- [ ] big windows and lots of light
- [ ] a hall for lunch, assemblies and PE
- [ ] classrooms with tables in groups
- [ ] a library and a computer area
- [ ] a playground with climbing frames
- [ ] a playing field and a garden to grow things
- [ ] a ramp and wide doors so everyone can get in
- [ ] solar panels on the roof
- [ ] a quiet room for chilling out
- [ ] something only your school has: a pool, an aquarium, a running track on the roof…

Tip

Build the box first, then the roof, then the small parts. Paint before you glue on windows. Let a grown-up help with any cutting.
